

The 13 Best Ceramide-Spiked Skin-Care Products to Nourish Dry Skin

Dermatologists explain why you should be adding this skin barrier-boosting ingredient to your skin-care routine.

As far as skin-care ingredients are concerned, ceramides are among the most worthy of opponents when it comes to battling dry skin — which, with winter rearing its head, may be something that you're all too familiar with. Thankfully, ceramide-based products are not only a favorite among dermatologists, but are widely available at every price point. (Ever heard of a wonderful thing called CeraVe?)

MDNA Skin The Finishing Cream

"MDNA Skin's The Finishing Cream can be used alone or under makeup to nourish, hydrate, and impart a look of flawless illumination," says New York City dermatologist Paul Jarrod Frank. "It moisturizes, firms, and tones skin." We see you, Madge.

$250 (Shop Now)